

A RECEIVERSHIP
FOR TRACTION CO.

Colonial Trust Company, of Pittsburg, Files Suit Against the I. & L. Company.

H. D. MURDOCK MAY BE NAMED

As Receiver.—Suit is the Outgrowth of Reorganization Plan Formed By Directors.

The Colonial Trust Company of Indianapolis, has filed suit to foreclose mortgage on the property of the Indianapolis & Louisville Traction Company, and for the appointment of a receiver.

The suit was filed in the Federal court at Indianapolis and if a receiver is appointed, he will be named by Judge Anderson. It is said that H. D. Murdock or John E. Greely will probably be appointed.

The action does not come as a surprise. At Lexington a few days ago, Capt. W. E. English, who is a director of the road, stated that at the meeting of the directors at Pittsburg recently, a plan of reorganization was agreed upon which included a foreclosure sale. The reorganization, he said, contemplated a capitalization upon which dividends might be paid.

The directors of the road at their Pittsburg meeting, proposed a reorganization and recapitalization to be distributed as follows:

First mortgage bonds to present holders of first mortgage bonds at 70 per cent, $875,000; to be put into the treasury for working capital, $25,000; to be reserved for improvements and to be issued at 80 per cent of the actual cost of the same, $500,000 preferred stock to second mortgage bond holders at 15 per cent, $501,750; to present preferred stock holders at 75 per cent, $75,000; to be put into the treasury, $23,250; common stock to present first mortgage bond holders, 30 per cent of their bonds, $375,000; to second mortgage bond holders, $200,000; to present preferred stock holders, $25,000.

Thus an effort was made to reduce the indebtedness by having the holders of the bonds to surrender them at 70 cents on the dollar. But as some of the holders refused to consent to this, the plan failed and the receivership is the result, and the small bondholders, instead of getting 70 cents on the dollar, will probably get nothing at all.

The present capitalization of the company consists of $1,250,000 first mortgage bonds outstanding, $334,500 second mortgage bonds outstanding, $100,000 preferred and $2,500,000 common stock. It is proposed to issue new securities as follows: $1,500,000 in 5 per cent thirty-year, first mortgage bonds, dated Jan. 1, 1911; $600,000 in 6 per cent cumulative preferred stock, and $600,000 common stock.

The Scottsburg Journal says regarding the present move:

The I. & L. has done a good business ever since it was completed. At Seymour it connects with the I. C. & S. and at Sellersburg with the L. & N., thus forming the middle link of a direct line from Indianapolis to Louisville. There has been a gradual and healthy growth in both its passenger and freight business and under ordinary circumstances it should have been a dividend paying proposition. The failure has not been due to extravagance, graft nor mismanagement in the operation of the road. The sole trouble is that too much money was spent on the construction of the line. The right-of-way was expensive and the character of land through which it passes was such that the cost of construction was very heavy. No expense was spared in making the roadbed, rolling stock and equipment equal to the best in the country. On this account, operation of the line was begun under the handicap of an extremely heavy bonded indebtedness; and despite the flourishing business consumed, it has never been able to pay the interest on these initial bonds and so the foreclosure of the mortgage could not be averted.

It is asserted that the outcome of the present moves will be the placing of the company in a good financial condition and a position to make further improvements and extensions.

Some predict the proposed branch line from Scottsburg to Madison, may be built. The plaintiff in the present foreclosure suit is the company which originally financed the road.

SPECIAL TRADING DAYS

Will Be Changed to Friday, Saturday and Monday, May 19, 20 and 22.

It seemed advisable today to change the Seymour special trading days which are being arranged, when fares will be rebated to customers to Friday, Saturday and Monday, May 19th, 20th and 22nd. The matter was taken up with some of our merchants and the change in dates impressed them very favorably. In fact each one who was spoken to was very decided in his statement that these days would be preferable over those first announced. This will give one day more for the news to spread over the county and thus enhance the value of the trading proposition both for our customers and for their customers.

Bring in your advertising early. We are already beginning to set some of the advertisements and will need as many as possible this afternoon and tomorrow so that we may begin the printing and get the advance notices out in ample time. These three days should be the biggest trading days Seymour has ever witnessed and we want to do our share in spreading the news as early as possible and as thoroughly as possible all over this county and adjoining districts. Let us have your advertising copy as early as possible.

ARGUED BEFORE
SUPREME COURT

Mutton Creek Ditch Case Given Hearing Before High Tribunal on Wednesday.

DECISION NOT EXPECTED SOON

Case Has Been Before Commissioners and Circuit Court in This County.

The Mutton Creek ditch case which was appealed from this county, was argued before the Supreme Court at Indianapolis Wednesday, J. M. Lewis and Frank Jones argued the case for the remonstrators while John Kaman appeared for Jesse Pyles and the others who originally petitioned for the ditch. It is not expected that a decision on the case will be handed down for several months.

The Mutton Creek ditch matter has been up in the commissioners' court and circuit court for several years. About four years ago a petition was filed with the commissioners asking for the establishment of the ditch. Strong opposition developed, but the ditch was ordered but its construction was never dug.

About two years ago Jesse Pyles, et al, filed a petition in the circuit court, asking that the ditch be ordered established. Ewing Shields, et al, remonstrated. The petitioners won the case and the remonstrators took an appeal last summer. The amount of costs that have accumulated in the case, is considerable. The proposed ditch would be about five or six miles long and would start from the B. & O. railroad about three miles east of Seymour and run southeast to the Muscatatuck.

Plows at Eighty-three

Although 83 years old, Mrs. Martha Spradley, of near Selvin, Warrick county, is getting ready to do her own spring plowing for corn. She is one of the most wonderful women in southern Indiana. She has the seemingly unlimited vitality of the pioneers, of whom she is one. She remembers this county when it was all forests. She wears no glasses, dresses modestly and has never used a cane or crutch.

She and her unmarried daughter reside on their farm three miles north of Selvin, where they raise tobacco, corn and other farm products. They have no hired man, doing all the farm work themselves. Mrs. Spradley has been a widow for twenty years. She hauls coal from the mines known as the Nation, to Sein, Dael and Holland. She shovels the coal herself.

The Ebner Ice and Cold Storage Co. have on hand an ample supply of Lime-Sulphur solution, which they are offering at a low price in order to encourage the spraying of apple orchards and other fruits. For prices inquire at their office at the Ice Plant. m31d&w

ASSOCIATION TO BE FORMED

Jackson Township to Have Distinction in Parent-Teacher Organization Movement.

ONE OF THE FIRST TOWNSHIPS

To Have Such Organization in a Rural School.—Meeting Next Week.

Jackson township is to have the distinction of having one of the first, if not the first, Parent-Teachers' Associations in a rural school in the state.

Such an organization is to be formed in the consolidated school, east of the city next Wednesday evening.

The meeting will be held at the consolidated school and an effort will be made by Trustee Steinwedel and the teachers to have as many of the parents in that section present as possible.

Supt. J. A. Linke of the Seymour schools is to make the principal address of the evening. Prof. Gast will take a chorus from the high school and also the high school orchestra to furnish the music for the occasion.

The Parent-Teacher movement was started in the schools of the state during the past year and has made strong headway, the benefits of such organizations having been generally recognized by teachers and school patrons generally. The Federation of Women's Clubs of Indiana has been a strong advocate of these clubs. Associations have been formed in many of the city schools of the state and it is now expected that they will spread rapidly to the rural schools.

An association was formed in Seymour last fall and the meetings held since, have proved interesting and profitable.

BROWNSTOWN MEN FINED

One Had a Narrow Escape From Death Wednesday Evening.

Mayor Swope fined two Brownstown men for intoxication this morning, the bill being $1 and costs in each case. Reuben Burrell and Pleasant Holman were the subjects of the court's action. Holman, who is an old man, narrowly escaped being killed by an east bound passenger train as it slowed up at the local station Wednesday evening. A porter jumped from the train and pulled Holman from under the wheels just in time to save his life.

Some of the persons who saw the incident, were inclined to believe Holman had attempted to commit suicide. When he was taken in charge by Marshal Abell, he acted strangely and refused to give his name, being afraid apparently that it would involve him trouble. Some men here, knew him and gave the officer his name. They said he was not known as a drinking man. He was taken to his home this morning.

OKLAHOMA JUDGE

Took Fling at Indiana in the Burrell Case.

A recent issue of the Daily Oklahoman of Oklahoma City, contained the following in reference to the Burrell case:

That no kidnapping of prisoners will be allowed by the courts of this state, was the positive declaration made by Henry M. Furman, presiding judge of the criminal court of appeals, Tuesday, in connection with the hearing on the habeas corpus application of Hugh A. Burrell, former Brownstown, Ind., banker, held for extradition to Indiana on charges of forgery and embezzlement.

Intimations, by council for Burrell, that attempts had been made to kidnap him and take him back to Indiana without allowing him to get his case before the courts of this state, brought forth Judge Furman's declaration. He referred indirectly to the McNamara and McManigal cases and said that such proceedings might go in Indiana, but that he "is here to see that nothing of the sort is done in Oklahoma," even if he had to fill the jail with the people who attempted it. The arguments were concluded on both sides, and the case taken under advisement by the court.

The principal point advanced against Burrell's return is the fact that under an Indiana law passed in 1907, he might be subjected to "cruel and unusual punishment." He claims that his punishment is in violation of the constitution of the United States.

Norman Haskell, son of the ex-governor, and E. L. Kistler, of Muskogee, represented Burrell, and E. G. McAdams, of this city, appeared on behalf of the Indiana authorities, who are seeking Burrell's return. The clerk of the circuit court of Jackson county, in Indiana, in which the indictments were returned, was here and placed on the stand by McAdams to testify in regard to the correctness of proceedings in the case. Objections to them had been offered by Burrell's attorneys.

Mothers' Day.

The First Baptist Sunday School will observe next Sunday morning as Mothers' Day. The program will have several features in honor of our mothers and the mothers of the Sunday School pupils as well as all others are invited to attend.

One of the prettiest tributes of modern times is the increasing observance of the second Sunday of May as Mothers' Day, which falls this year on next Sunday, the 14th. This is the day that men of all nationalities and creeds, in all walks of life and in all climes, from the humblest peasant to the ruler of the land, from the brawny-armed laborer to the captain of industry and from the most degraded criminal to the highest church dignitary all meet on the same plane and turn back through yester years to the recollections of their Mother's guiding influence and unite in revering her memory. The beautiful custom was inaugurated a few years ago by Miss Anna Jarvis, who in her world-wide appeal, asked that men observe the day by wearing a white flower in the lapel of their coats, the emblematic blossom being the white carnation where procurable.

GOVERNOR ASKS ABOUT OUTRAGE

Wants Monroe County Whitecapping Investigated.

FORMER PROMISES BROKEN

At the Last Trial of Whitecaps in That Region the Defendants Were Let Go on Promise That Whitecapping Should Cease—Present Case May Serve to Bring Suspended Sentences in That Case.

Indianapolis, May 11.—Governor Marshall has written to James G. Browning, sheriff of Monroe county, for full particulars concerning the recent whitecap outrage in that county, and for a statement in full of what steps are being taken to arrest and punish the whitecaps. No appeal has been made to the governor for aid by any person in the county, but the governor said the peculiar conditions of the case made it necessary for the governor's office to take notice of the outrages.

In the trial of two whitecaps at Columbus, following an outrage several months ago, the state consented to a suspension of sentence on the whitecaps, who pleaded guilty, but the consent of the state was given on the promise of attorneys for the defendants that whitecapping should cease. Whether the recent outbreak will affect the liberty of the whitecaps released under suspended sentence remains to be seen. As far as the authorities know, they were not in any way connected with the recent outbreak.

MANY CHILDREN MISSED

Parents Feared Child Labor Act and Failed to Tell Enumerators.

South Bend, Ind., May 11.—Men in charge of the school enumeration here have just found that nearly 700 children were missed because of a misunderstanding of the new child labor law. This measure has caused considerable confusion here, because of the large number of boys and girls employed in the factories. It is presumed the people refused to give their children's names to the school enumerators in order to evade the child labor act. The condition came to light in the checking up of the returns, and a recount may be made.

FORMALLY OPENED

Hospital for Insane Criminals Now Ready for Inmates.

Indianapolis, May 11.—The state hospital for insane criminals at the state prison at Michigan City, has been formally declared open by Governor Marshall, on a showing by Warden Fogarty of the prison that the hospital was completed. The warden estimated that approximately 200 insane criminals in all the state hospitals for the insane and the state prison and reformatory, are waiting to be transferred to the new hospital, which was built from an appropriation made for the purpose in 1909.

Evidence of Foul Play.

Evansville, Ind., May 11.—The body found in the Ohio river about twenty-five miles below here and supposed to be Charles Ferguson, the missing gas company official, was found to have a knife wound below the heart. Coroner Mayer is inclined to believe the man was murdered. The body had been in the water several days.

Hanged Himself by Suspenders.

Wabash, Ind., May 11.—Eugene Claude, aged forty-five, unmarried, was found dead in his room. His suspenders were taken from his trousers and a noose made in one end. The other end was made fast to the head of the bed. When found his head was less than two feet from the floor and death was due to strangulation.

Held on Serious Charge.

Washington, Ind., May 11.—Hugh McKernan, jr., youngest son of Hugh F. McKernan, a wealthy lumber dealer, was arrested on a warrant charging him with having assaulted Edna Brumett, a sixteen-year-old school girl, who is under the care of a physician. McKernan was released under $1,000 bond.

Will Invite Veterans.

South Bend, Ind., May 11.—The annual encampment in 1912 of the Indiana G. A. R. probably will be held in South Bend. The chamber of commerce will send an invitation to the encampment, which will be held next week in Richmond.

Baby Fell to Its Death.

Peru, Ind., May 11.—Margaret Sullivan, aged two, fell from her tricycle and suffered a broken neck, which caused her death soon afterward. Her father is James C. Sullivan, superintendent of the Peru division of the Wabash railroad.

Temporary Injunction Granted.

Indianapolis, May 11.—Judge Anderson in federal court issued a temporary injunction to restrain the city officials of Elkhart from enforcing an ordinance providing for the payment of a license fee for dealers using trading stamps.

MOSQUE OF OMAR

Beneath Which Important Relics Have Been Found.

London, May 11.—Captain Montagu Parker, who headed the party of English explorers who have been said to have removed sacred relics from the mosque of Omar and who is back in London, announces that the party found the first Jebusite remains ever excavated in Jerusalem. Bodies of Jebusites were found on shelves in caves, and it is thought that the bodies were interred before David took Jerusalem, probably 3,000 years before Christ. There is pottery of the same date, showing that the Jebusites had a civilization equal to that of the Israelites 2,000 years later.

LABOR SLUGGERS ARE ATTACKING OLD MEN

Brutal Incidents of Machinists' Strike.

Chicago, May 11.—Labor sluggers are resting on their arms while their bruised and wounded victims nurse their injuries. The headquarters of the elevator constructors' union look like the accident ward in a hospital. Three men, upward of sixty years old, met in the headquarters at the same time, each one with his head bandaged as a result of the attacks of the sluggers. The old men, victims of the "wrecking crew," are Gilbert Olsen, sixty-two years old; Fred Smith, sixty, and John McDermott, sixty-two years old. All are old members of the elevator constructors' union, and all were beaten by machinists' pickets the first day they returned to work for the Otis Elevator company.

EIGHT YEARS IN PRISON

The Punishment of Afghan Who Shot Indiana Young Woman at Jerusalem.

Washington, May 11.—Hahib Allah, an Afghan, who shot and wounded two American women at Jerusalem last year has been sentenced to eight years in prison. Miss Natalie Morris of Mamaroneck, N. Y., and Miss Agnes Parker Moore of Terre Haute, Ind., members of a large party of American tourists, were visiting the mosque of Omar at Jerusalem on March 9, 1910, when they were fired on by the Afghan and wounded, one of them losing an eye. He was at once arrested and held for trial, but various delays have occurred. The state department has just received a dispatch from the American consul at Jerusalem saying the trial was concluded and the men sentenced.

The Premier Perfume.

Most of our perfumes come from flowers or are made in imitation of the scent of flowers, so that attar of roses, by common consent, ranks at the head of the list of perfumes. Other preparations from roses, too, hold a high place and have long been esteemed. Rosewater is historic. When Saladin entered Jerusalem in the twelfth century he had the walls of the mosque of Omar washed with it. But attar of oil of rose is by far the most precious and the most prized of all. An eastern prince will present to an honored guest rich jewels, rubies and diamonds and then add, as the rarest of all, a crystal bottle filled with this essence.

Watch Your Kidneys.

Their action controls your health. Read what Foley Kidney Pills have done for your neighbor. Allen Campbell, 322 S. Morton St., Bloomington, Ind., says: "My kidneys and bladder caused me a great deal of trouble for some time. My back pained me a great deal. There was a dull bearing down pain in my bladder and I felt all out of sorts. Foley Kidney Pills helped me from the start. The backache and pain in my bladder left and my kidney action became normal and regular. Foley Kidney Pills have certainly done wonders for me and I gladly recommend their use." A. J. Pellens.

The Kangaroo Rat.

One of the queerest little animals of the antipodean wilds of the paradoxical continent of Australia is a little zoological oddity which the naturalists have called the kangaroo rat. It averages no larger than the common rodent of the Norway variety, but is a miniature kangaroo in every respect. Its mode of locomotion is precisely the same as that of Macropus giganteus. Besides this, the female carries its young in pouches which nature has provided for that purpose and in many other respects imitates the habits and characteristics of its gigantic relative.

What Foley Kidney Pills Will do for You.

Foley Kidney Pills are a true medicine. They are healing, strengthening, antiseptic and tonic. Foley Kidney Pills take hold of your system and help you to rid yourself of your dragging backache, dull headache, nervousness, impaired eyesight, and of all the miserable feelings that result from the impaired action of your kidneys and bladder. Remember it is Foley Kidney Pills that do this for you. A. J. Pellens.

JUREZ TAKEN BY MADERISTS

Insurrectos Now Control Important Port of Entry.

ORDER IS BEING PRESERVED

The First Act of the Victorious Rebels Was to Close Every Saloon in the Town and Place Guards to See That the Lid Is Kept on Tight—General Navarro to Be Exchanged For Important Rebel Leader.

El Paso, Tex., May 11.—His two principal commanders killed or wounded, deserted by his captains and afraid his men would go over to the insurrectos if given a chance to mingle with them, Gen. Juan J. Navarro yesterday afternoon surrendered the city of Juarez to the rebel army of Francisco I. Madero. With 480 of his men, he is held by the rebels. Navarro remained with his men to the last, and after many of his officers had quit and the command had been shot to pieces the old general retreated into the barracks on the southwestern edge of the city, where the rebel advance was fought off as long as possible.

The rebels took the city at 10 o'clock, but it was afternoon when Navarro surrendered with his command, and this was only done after five shells from a heavy cannon had struck the adobe building in which they had taken refuge.

Colonel M. Tamborel was killed in his own house during the Tuesday night. He was the commandant of the federal garrison and second in command of the city. Colonel Manuel Pueblita was wounded. Then the captains and minor officers began to desert. The soldiers followed this example and Navarro was forced to retire with his men in a body to keep them all from leaving him. From place to place the rebels moved, retiring slowly as the rebel fire drove them back, making their last stand in the barracks as the insurrectos ran up their flags on the different buildings and their comrades began to pour in from all sides of the town.

Closed the Saloons.

General Navarro is to be exchanged for Eduardo Hay, one of the insurrecto board of strategy, now a prisoner in the state prison at Chihuahua.

Madero was asked if he would execute Navarro.

"Certainly not," he said. "Not a man will be shot. We will exchange them for our own men held prisoners by the federals."

Asked what he thought of the fight, Madero said: "All I can say is 'Bueno!'"

"Shall I say that it is to be Mexico City for you?"

"Oh, we'll see," said Madero.

As soon as the insurrectos took the town, the officers made every possible effort to close the saloons and prevent the men drinking. A great deal of liquor was destroyed and guards were placed over all saloons. So far there is almost perfect order and a minimum of drunkenness. Juarez is designed to be the first prohibition town in Mexico. Abram Gonzales, provisional governor of Chihuahua, declares that Juarez saloons will be closed continuously until the insurrectos leave the city. Every other precaution is being taken to prevent disorder.

The killed and wounded are found in all sorts of out-of-the-way places in Juarez. Blood spots appear everywhere in the streets and on the sidewalks, and dead, dying and men wounded seriously and slightly are found at every turn. It is believed from careful estimates of Americans who have gone through the town very thoroughly, that the total dead will be fifty or seventy-five and the total wounded will not be over 300.

Captured Another Port.

Tucson, Ariz., May 11.—Bent upon driving the federal forces from the Altar district, a band of 150 rebels have captured Sasabe, a Mexican port of entry on the border, seventy miles northwest of Nogales, where the proposed Portola irrigation ditch crosses into Mexico.

Agua Prieta Also Taken.

Douglas, Ariz., May 11.—Rebel commanders who have been campaigning in Sonora state took charge of Agua Prieta last night and set up a temporary government. The federal forces had abandoned the place.

LOOKED HAGGARD

Leonard Maples and Mrs. Gullett, Entered Pleas of Guilty.

In the Clark Circuit Court Wednesday, Leonard Maples and Mrs. Rose Gullett, the Jackson county people charged with bigamy, entered pleas of guilty. The Courier Journal this morning said:

Judge Harry C. Montgomery, in the Clark Circuit Court, Jeffersonville, today will pass sentence upon Leonard Maples and Mrs. Rose Gullett, who were arrested in Louisville last Saturday night at the instance of Capt. Mike A. Wall, following complaints sworn out by Mrs. Effie Maples, of Medora, Jackson county, Ind., before Magistrate James S. Keigwin, on the charge of bigamy. Twice yesterday the accused persons pleaded guilty. In the first instance they went before Magistrate James S. Keigwin to withdraw their pleas of not guilty and admit that the charges were true. They were held to the Circuit Court, and not being able to give bond, went back to jail.

A short time afterward, Prosecuting Attorney George C. Kopp, filed before Judge Montgomery and filed separate informations against Maples and Mrs. Gullett on affidavits made by Capt. Wall. In the information against Maples, it is charged that he married under the name of William L. Maples, Mrs. Rose Gullett, who gave here name as Margaret R. Gullett, while he still had an undivorced wife still living, to whom he was married, December 22, 1903. It is charged that Mrs. Gullett has an undivorced husband still living, to whom she was married in August, 1899, and that in full knowledge of this she was married in Jeffersonville on February 27, 1911, to Maples. Both pleaded guilty.

When taken before Magistrate Keigwin yesterday morning, Maples and Mrs. Gullett looked haggard. Mrs. Gullett has lost the defiant air that she maintained following her arrest, when she vowed she would not be separated from her companion. The two showed, however, that they were still greatly attached to each other. Mrs. Gullett was called before Magistrate Keigwin and was asked when she was married to her lawful husband and she replied it was in July or August, 1899 at Salem, Ind., but she did not recall the date. She trembled slightly as she said the few words and then went back to where Maples was seated and conversed with him in a serious manner and in a low tone of voice.

For soreness of the muscles whether induced by violent exercise or injury, Chamberlain's Liniment is excellent. This liniment is also highly esteemed for the relief it affords in cases of rheumatism. Sold by all Dealers.

APPOMATTOX APPLE TREE STORY A MYTH.Famous Tale of Lee's Surrender to Grant Branded as Such.

The old apple tree at Appomattox is largely a myth. There was an apple tree, but no conference between General Lee and General Grant took place under it and no surrender was effected under it. Judge Thomas G. Jones of Montgomery, Ala., who was an officer on the staff of General John B. Gordon, who was present at Appomattox, says that the popular idea current some years ago of a surrender under an apple tree was altogether wrong.

"The apple tree never figured in it at all," said Judge Jones, "except to this slight extent: In the morning of the day of the surrender General Lee sent a flag of truce to General Grant. While he was waiting the return of his messenger to General Grant he sat down on the roots of an old apple tree and waited awhile. Long before the messenger returned he had left the apple tree and was at the McLean farmhouse, where he and General Grant held their conference and where the final surrender was effected. The old apple tree was quickly cut down and cut to pieces by relic hunters, and something like fifty other apple trees in the orchard were cut to pieces. The pieces were later made up and sold in various forms through the country. This probably encouraged the fallacy that Grant and Lee had sat under the apple tree. But the two generals met at the McLean farmhouse.

"My vivid recollection of the Appomattox surrender is seeing General Lee come out of his headquarters on that final morning and mount Old Traveler, his famous horse. He was immaculately dressed. At his side he wore the handsome sword given him by the people of Virginia. He was buried in deep thought, and as he mounted his horse he clasped his hands absently together. The private soldiers crowded about the horse and begged him for information. I heard him say to the men crowding about him: 'We have fought the war through. It is now all over.'"

WARNS FRATERNITY MEN.

Cornell President Says Too Many Fail

Another warning to the fraternity men at Cornell university to do better work in their classrooms is sounded in President Schurman's report on the comparative scholastic standing of the fraternity and nonfraternity men for the year 1911. President Schurman points out that of the eighty-eight men dropped in February as the result of the midyear examinations the fraternities furnished 40 to 45 per cent, whereas the number of male undergraduates belonging to fraternities constituted but 29 per cent of the entire male student population.

The figures are about the same as last year, and Dr. Schurman says that is not a good showing for the fraternities. He is glad to commend fifteen fraternities, whose names he gives, which did not lose a single man for poor scholarship last year.

Of the 3,587 regular students, excluding graduate students and women, 1,048 belong to the fraternities and 2,539 do not. Forty fraternity men and forty-eight nonfraternity men were dropped. The distribution among classes shows that the sophomore year is the dangerous one for fraternity men.

MAY BEAR TAFT'S NAME.

Move to Call Highway After Him and King Edward.

A movement has been started to name the proposed New York to Montreal international highway in honor of President Taft and the late King Edward in recognition of their efforts in the cause of peace.

George A. Simard of Montreal, chairman of the Canada committee formed to accomplish the building of the Canadian end, made the suggestion that that part be named King Edward road, and Howard D. Hadley, chairman of the committee of New York state, suggests that the New York portion be named Taft road.

"What better or more striking form could the peace movement assume," said Mr. Hadley, "than in the joining forever of two names symbolizing for both countries the principles of industrial good will and peace to designate the world famous roadway?"

None Better.

Mrs. Wise—I wouldn't have bought cigars for my husband if I were you. A man doesn't like his wife to do that. Mrs. McBride—I know it's risky unless you're very careful to get the best, but I was careful. Mrs. Wise—Were you? Mrs. McBride—Yes; I picked out a box called "finest made." There couldn't possibly be anything better than that, you know.

MEXICO SEES SIGNS
OF AN EARLY PEACEFall of Juarez May Mean
Diaz's Resignation.

Mexico City, May 11.—It is considered here by well informed persons and seems the general opinion of the public, that Navarro's surrender clears the situation and peace is bound to follow immediately.

As the rebels make the condition of peace the resignation of President Diaz, it follows that this will be announced shortly.

The minister of war was interviewed regarding the report that the government would attempt to retake Juarez. He stated that General Rago is marching from Chihuahua and other troops have been ordered there, but he was unwilling to state definitely if an attack would be made.

Nothing definite has been learned concerning expected peace in the state of Guerrero, but reports that Figueroa is about to attack Cuernavaca and then march toward Mexico City are officially denied. It is known that the rebels who control Guerrero are not making further efforts. The trains are running to Cuernavaca, but no further toward Iguala, as the bridges are down near Cajones.

Last reports from other points in the republic indicate that the rebels are extremely active. It is feared that Durango, Torreon, Tuxpan and other important cities, if not already occupied by the rebels, are in imminent danger. A report from Saltillo, the capital of the state of Coahuila, stated that the town is surrounded by rebels, who are attacking furiously. As the rebels outnumber the garrison of the town five to one, surrender is expected. Saltillo is on the line of the National railroad to Laredo.

CARRIED OUT THREAT

Despondent Philadelphian Bent on Suicide, Doesn't Go Alone.

Philadelphia, May 11.—Five people drank beer in which there was cyanide of potassium, at 2333 Ralston street. The dead are John Shinn, fifty-six years old, photographer; Mrs. Ida Arbuckle, fifty-one years old, widow, who lived at the Shinn home; Earl Burr, fifty years old, photographer. The other two will recover.

Mrs. Shinn said her husband had been despondent for some time because he had been out of work, and had threatened to commit suicide and "take all of you with me."

A FINE POINT IN MADERO'S FAVORHe Now for the First Time Has An Open Port.

MEANS MUCH TO HIS CAUSE

Juarez Can Now Be Used as a Base of Operations For Shipment of War Supplies Without Interference From This Country, a Point of Great Importance to the Struggling Revolutionists.

Washington, May 11.—During the occupation of Juarez by the insurgents the custom house at El Paso, Tex., will be kept open regularly. This decision by the treasury department is of great importance to the revolutionists. It assures the Madero forces an open port of entry on the border as a base of operations into which they can ship from the United States war supplies without interference from this country.

The United States under the neutrality laws has no right to interfere with bona fide shipments of arms or ammunition into Mexico. It is only when an attempt is made to smuggle war supplies across the border or when they are carried by an "expedition" that the United States government can seize them. Recently the judge advocate general of the army decided that three armed men constituted an "expedition."

While the United States has made no attempt to interrupt legitimate shipments of arms into Mexico, the rebels have been obliged to resort to filibustering expeditions for their munitions, because up to this time the custom houses on the Mexican side have all been held by the Mexican federal government. Consignments of arms and ammunition to the rebels, when cleared by the American custom houses, were promptly seized on the other side by the Diaz officers and confiscated.

This lack of a port of entry has been one of the most serious handicaps that the insurgents have had. It explains why they centered their efforts first on Agua Prieta and later on Juarez. With the latter port of entry in their possession, however, the situation has cleared for them. The Madero army now for the first time has an open door to American manufactures.

HE'S HAD ENOUGH

President Estrada of Nicaragua Resigns and Flees.

Colon, May 11.—Juan J. Estrada, president of Nicaragua, has resigned the presidency and rumors say is a fugitive vainly seeking to escape from his own country. The proclamation announcing the governmental change was issued at Granada, capital of the department of Granada. Vice President Adolfo Diaz was designated by Estrada as his successor. The resignation came as a result of the clash with General Luis Mena, minister of war in the Estrada cabinet. The trouble has been brewing for months.

It is said President Estrada tried to embark upon a steamer at Corinto. He is quoted as saying that the United States most certainly would not be his destination. General Moncado, minister of the interior, accompanied his chief. Wires to Managua are said to have been cut. Whether or not a revolution is impending can only be guessed. Opinion here was that the change of government would be peaceful.

MOTHER'S DISCOVERY

Lingerie in Son's Room Revealed Se-

Hammond, Ind., May 11.—Taken to task by his mother, Mrs. J. M. Vansickle, after she had found feminine wearing apparel in his room, Charles Vansickle, former champion motocyclist, and now proprietor of a theater in Hammond, admitted eloping with Miss Louise Sieldert, cashier in his theater. Young Vansickle met the girl in Chicago and hurried to Crown Point with her, where they were married.

Hoffstet Jury Disagreed.

Pittsburg, May 11.—The jury which tried Banker Frank N. Hoffstet, president of the Pressed Steel Car company, on a charge of conspiracy growing out of the councilman graft exposure, was discharged by Judge Haymaker after being out twenty-four hours and thirty minutes without agreeing on a verdict.

Parade Will Not Be Long.

Richmond, Ind., May 11.—The line of march for the parade of civil war veterans next week at the state encampment of the Grand Army will be less than one and one-half miles. The short march has been arranged to prevent the veterans from tiring, and it is expected that the number in line will be large.

Army Aviator's Fatal Fall.

San Antonio, Tex., May 11.—Second Lieutenant George M. E. Kelly, Thirtieth Infantry, U. S. A., was killed when making an aeroplane flight here. His plane fell fifty feet and Kelly, thrown from the machine, landed on his head.

TO HELL WITH PUBLIC OPINION, SAYS SOLONOhio Senator Gives Free Vent
to Feelings.

Columbus, O., May 11.—On the floor of the senate detectives who brought about indictments of Ohio assemblymen on bribery charges were attacked by Senator L. R. Andrews, one of the three senators indicted. In a speech characterized by extreme rancor, he charged that the grand jury had acted as a result of investigation by paid thieves, spies, thugs and murderers. One of the detectives, he said, had been sent to a prison fifteen years ago and only averted another sentence by turning state's evidence.

Andrews declared that when he had heard of the grand jury's intended probe, he had offered to go before the grand jury, but the attorney general had refused to accept his evidence.

"I knew," he said, "that if I told my story there would be no indictment, but they did not want to hear me." Senate Sergeant-at-Arms Diegel, also under indictment, had been summoned to the grand jury and offered immunity if he would tell what he knew, but he had answered that he knew nothing, Andrews declared.

The senate's so-called whitewash committee organized by choosing Senator Tood of this city as chairman and Senator Foster of Hillsboro as secretary. The latter had been one of the participants in the bitter debate during which detectives, reporters and those behind the bribery probe were scored without stint. At the height of an impassioned speech, Foster cried out: "To hell with public opinion if you feel you have done right."

The cigarmakers of Tampa are again on a general strike.

CHAPTER VI.

A CHANCE! I TAKE IT.

I SLEPT, though a question of no small importance was agitating my mind, demanding instant consideration and a definite answer before I again saw Clifton. This was my plan. I would acknowledge to having seen a horse and cutter leave the clubhouse by the upper gateway simultaneously with my entrance through the lower one. I would even describe the appearance of the person driving this cutter. No one by the greatest stretch of imagination would be apt to associate this description with Carmel, but it might set the authorities thinking, and if by any good chance a cutter containing a person wearing a derby hat and a coat with an extra high collar should have been seen on this portion of the road, or if, as I earnestly hoped, the snow had left any signs of another horse having been tethered in the clump of trees opposite the one where I had concealed my own, enough of the truth might be furnished to divide public opinion and start fresh inquiry.

That a woman's form had sought concealment under these masculine habiliments would not, could not, strike anybody's mind. Nothing in the crime had suggested a woman's presence, much less a woman's active agency.

The suspicion which had naturally fallen on myself as the one and only person implicated would in shifting pass straight to another man and, if he could not be found, return to me or be lost in a maze of speculation. I was ready with my confession when Mr. Clifton next came. I had even forestalled it in a short interview forced upon me by the assistant district attorney and Chief Hudson. That it seemed to have made a more favorable impression upon the latter than I had expected gave me additional courage when I came to discuss this new line of defense with the young lawyer.

"I have heard of no new discovery," he said. "If another cutter besides yours passed through the clubhouse grounds at the time you mention it left tracks which all the fury of the storm would not have entirely obliterated in the fifteen minutes elapsing between that time and the arrival of the police."

"But a witness can certainly be found who encountered that cutter and its occupants somewhere on the long stretch of open road between the Whispering Pines and the residence district," I said.

"Possibly. It would help. You have not asked for news from the Hill."

"Carmel!" I cried. "She is worse—dead!"

"No. She's not worse and she's not dead. But the doctors say it will be weeks before they can allow a question of any importance to be put to her. You can see what that will do for us. Her testimony is too important to the case to be ignored. A delay will follow, which may or may not be favorable to you. I am inclined to think now that it will redound to your interests. You are ready to swear to the sleigh you speak of—that you saw it leave the clubhouse grounds and turn north?"

"Quite ready, but you must not ask me to describe or in any way to identify its occupants. I saw nothing but the hat and coat I have told you about. It was just before the moon went under a cloud or I could not have seen that much."

I suppose my voice fell, for his glance became suddenly penetrating and his voice slightly sarcastic as he remarked:

"Those clouds obscured more than the moon, I fancy. I only wish that they had not risen between you and me. This is the blindest case that has ever been put in my hands."

"Tell me," I broke in, "of Carmel's condition, of the sort of nurse who cares for her and how Arthur conducts himself under this double affliction."

"I was there last night. Miss Clifford was in the house and received me. She told me that Arthur's state of mind was pitiful. He was never a very affectionate brother, you know, but now they cannot get him away from Carmel's door. He sits or stands all day just outside the threshold and casts jealous and beseeching looks at those who are allowed to enter."

"Doesn't he grieve for Adelaide?" I always thought that of the two she had the greater influence over him."

"Yes, but they cannot get him to enter the place where she lies. His duty is to the living, he says. At least his anxiety is there. He starts at every cry Carmel utters of 'Lila—Lila!' Nothing more!"

"Does he—Arthur—mention me at all?"

"Arthur feels very hard toward you and insists upon your guilt."

"Does the doctor—Dr. Carpenter, I presume—think Carmel will hold?"

"He cannot, not knowing his real cause. Carmel fell ill before the news of her sister's death arrived at the house, you remember. Some frightful scene must have occurred between the two previous to Adelaide's departure for the Whispering Pines. What that scene was can only be told by Carmel, and for her account we must wait. Happily you have an alibi which will serve you in this instance. You were at the station during the time we are speaking of."

"Has that been proved?"

"Yes; several men saw you there."

"And the gentleman who brought me the letter?" It was more than difficult for me to speak Carmel's name. "He has not come forward?"

"Not yet; not to my knowledge, at least."

"And the ring?"

"No news."

"The nurse—you have told me nothing about her," I now urged, reverting to the topic of gravest interest to me.

"Is she any one we know or an importation of the doctor's?"

"I did not busy myself with that. She's a competent woman, of course. I suppose that is what you mean."

Could I tell him that this was not what I meant at all—that it was her qualities as woman rather than her qualifications as nurse which were important in this case? If she were of a suspicious, prying disposition what might we not fear from her circumspection when Carmel's memory asserted itself and she grew more precise in the frenzy which now exhausted itself in unintelligible cries or the ceaseless repetition of her sister's name? I passed the matter over with the final remark:

"Watch her, watch them all, and bring me each and every detail of the poor girl's sickness. You will never regret humoring me in this. You ordered the flowers for—Adelaide?"

"Yes; lilies, as you requested."

"There will be no autopsy, the papers say; the evidences of death by strangulation are too well defined."

"Very true. Yet I wonder at their laxity in this. There were signs of some other agency having been at work also. Those two empty glasses smelling of cordial—inocent perhaps, yet—"

"Don't! I can bear no more today. I shall be stronger tomorrow."

Another feeler turned aside. His cheek showed his displeasure, but the words were kind enough with which he speedily took his leave and left me to solitude and a long night of maddening thought.

"And you still hold him?"

"Yes, but with growing uncertainty. He's one of those fellows who affect your judgment in spite of yourself. You may escape the fascination, probably will, but at least you will understand my present position and why I telephoned to New York for an expert detective to help us on this job. I wish to give the son of my old friend a chance."

The man whom Coroner Perry thus addressed leaned back in his chair and quietly replied:

"You're right—not because he's the son of your old friend, a handsome fellow and all that, but for the reason that every man should have his full chance whatever the appearances against him. I lay greater stress than you do on the two or three minor points which seem to favor his latest declaration that a man had preceded him in his visit to this lonely clubhouse, a man whom he had himself seen leaving the grounds in a cutter just as he entered by the opposite driveway."

"Ah!" came in quick ejaculation from the coroner's lips. "I like to hear you say that. The police did find traces of a second horse and cutter having passed through the clubhouse grounds. Hexford and Clarke saw them in time to satisfy themselves that they extended from the northern clump of trees to the upper gateway, where they took the direction of the hill."

"That is not all. A gripsack, packed for traveling, was in Mr. Ranelagh's cutter, showing that his story of an intended journey was not without some foundation."

"Yes. We have retained that gripsack. It is not the only proof we have of his intention to leave the city for awhile. No one doubts that he planned an elopement with the beautiful Carmel. The question is, Was his disappointment followed by the murder of the woman who stood in his way?"

District Attorney Fox quietly remarked:

"I suppose that no conclusion can be drawn from the condition of the body when our men reached it. I judge that it was still warm."

"Yes, but so it would have been if she had met her fate several minutes earlier than was supposed. Clarke and Hexford differ about the length of time which intervened between the moment when the former looked into the room from the outside and that of their final entrance. Let us take up something more tangible."

"Very good. Here it is. Of the six bottles of spirits which were surreptitiously taken from the clubhouse's wine vault four were found standing unopened on the kitchen table. Where are the other two?"

"That's it! That's the question I have put myself ever since I interrogated the steward and found him ready to swear to the correctness of his report and the disappearance of these two bottles. Ranelagh did not empty them or the bottles themselves would have been found somewhere about the place. Now, who did?"

"No one within the clubhouse precincts. They were opened and emptied elsewhere. There's our clue, and if the man you've got up from New York is worth his salt he has his task ready at hand."

"Would you like to see him?"

"In a moment. I want to clear my mind in reference to these bottles. Only some one addicted to drink would drag those six bottles out of that cold, unlighted cellar."

"Yes, and a connoisseur at that. The two missing bottles held the choicest brand in the whole stock. They were kept far back, too—hidden, as it were, behind the other bottles."

"What was in the four bottles found on the kitchen table?"

"Sherry, whisky and rum—two bottles of rum and one each of sherry and whisky."

"The thief meant to carry them all off, but had not time."

"The gentleman thief. No common man such as we are looking for would make choice of just those bottles. So there we are again. Contradictions in every direction."

"Those bottles, full or empty, must be found. You know the labels?"

"Yes, and the shape and color of the bottles, both of which are peculiar."

The door opened, and Mr. Clifton was ushered in. Well and favorably known to both men, he had no difficulty in stating his business and preferring his request.

"I am here in the interests of Elwood Ranelagh," said he. "He is willing to concede, and so am I, that under the circumstances his arrest was justifiable, but not his prolonged detention. He has little excuse to offer for the mistakes he has made or the various offenses of which he has been guilty. He vows that he had no hand in the murder, and in this regard I feel not only bound but forced to believe him. I have come to entreat your aid in clearing up one or two points which may affect your own opinion of his guilt."

"As his counsel I have been able to extract from him a fact which he has hitherto withheld from the police. It is this:

"The ring which Miss Cumberland wore as the sign and seal of her engagement to him was not on her hand when he came upon her, as he declares he did, dead. It was there at dinner time—a curious ring which I have often noted myself and could accurately describe if required. If she took it off before starting for the Whispering Pines it should be easily found. But, if she did not, what a clue it offers to her unknown assailant! Up till now Mr. Ranelagh has been anticipating receiving this ring back in a letter written before she left her home. But he has heard of no such letter and doubts now if you have. May I ask if he is correct in this surmise?"

"We know of no such letter. None has come to his rooms," replied the coroner.

"I thought not. The whereabouts of this ring, then, is still to be determined. As Mr. Ranelagh's legal adviser I am very anxious to have that ring found."

"We'll search for the ring, Mr. Clifton."

"Meanwhile will you cast your eye over these fragments of a note which Mr. Ranelagh says he received from Miss Carmel Cumberland while waiting on the station platform for her coming?"

Mr. Clifton drew from his pocket two small scraps of soiled and crumpled paper, one of which was the half of an envelope presenting very nearly the following appearance:

Mr. Elwood R.

As he pointed this out he remarked:

"Elwood is not so common a baptismal name that there can be any doubt as to the person addressed."

The other scraps, also written in pencil and by the same hand, contained but two or three disconnected words, but one of those words was Adelaide.

"I spent an hour and a half in the yards adjoining the station before I found those two bits," explained the young lawyer. "I offer them in corroboration of Mr. Ranelagh's statement that the 'Come!' used in the partially consumed letter found in the clubhouse chimney was addressed to Miss Carmel Cumberland and not to Adelaide and that the place of meeting suggested by this word was the station platform and not the spot since made terrible by death."

"You are acquainted with Miss Carmel Cumberland's handwriting?"

"If I am not the town is full of people who are. I believe these words to have been written by Carmel Cumberland."

Mr. Fox placed the pieces back in their envelope and laid the whole carefully away.

"We are obliged to you," said he. "You can cancel the obligation," was the quick retort, "by discovering the identity of the man who, in derby hat and a coat with a very high collar, left the grounds of the Whispering Pines just as Mr. Ranelagh drove into them. I have no facilities for the job and no desire to undertake it."

He had endeavored to speak naturally, if not with an offhand air, but he failed somehow, else why the quick glance of startled inquiry which Dr. Perry sent him from under his rather shaggy eyebrows.

"Well, we'll undertake that, too," promised the district attorney.

"I can ask no more," returned Charles Clifton, rising to depart. "The confronting of that man with Ranelagh will cause the latter to unseal his lips. Before you have finished with my client you will esteem him much more highly than you do now."

Caleb Sweetwater of the New York police department, who entered the room after Clifton departed, was no beauty. He was plain featured to the point of ugliness. His receding chin and far too projecting nose were not likely to create a favorable impression on one ignorant of his cheerful, modest, winsome disposition.

"Mr. Sweetwater," said the district attorney, "we have some doubts if the man we have in hand is the man we really want. But, first, how much do you know about this case?"

"All that's in the papers."

"Nothing more?"

"Very little. I've not been in town above an hour."

"Are you known here?"

"I don't think so. It's my first visit this way."

"Then you are as ignorant of the people as they are of you. Well, that has its disadvantages."

"And its advantages, if you will permit me to say so, sir. I have no prejudices, no preconceived notions, to struggle against."

The eye of District Attorney Fox stole toward that of his brother officer.

"He shouldn't be hard to find."

cial, but did not meet it. The coroner had turned his attention to the table again and, while betraying no embarrassment, was not quite his usual self. The district attorney's hand stole to his chin, which he softly rubbed with his lean forefinger as he again addressed Sweetwater.

The story which followed is too well known to us for repetition. Sweetwater listened with snapping eyes to all that was said, and when he had been given the various clues indicating the presence of a third and as yet unknown party on the scene of crime he rose excitedly to his feet and, declaring that it was a most promising case, begged permission to make his own investigations at the Whispering Pines, after which he would be quite ready to begin his search for the man in the derby hat and high coat collar, whose love for wine was so great that he chose and carried off the two choicest bottles that the clubhouse contained.

"If he exists and the whole story is not a pure fabrication of the entrapped Ranelagh he shouldn't be hard to find," said the detective.

Help for All

Andrew Carnegie once suggested as an epitaph for his own tombstone what he said was the secret of his success: "Here lies a man who surrounded himself with men abler than himself."

Many able people are working for you, scientists, inventors, manufacturers, all trying to make something you want. Do you use their brains and their efforts—"surround yourself with them"—or do you plod along by yourself, years behind the times?

Take your own home. Have you your share of modern improvements there—money-saving, labor-saving, health-promoting? One of the most important of these is a New Perfection Oil Cook-stove.

A New Perfection stove never overheats a kitchen. It saves your strength. It saves fuel and time. With the New Perfection oven with the glass doors you can go on with your ironing or any other work, and still be sure at a glance the joint is roasting properly.

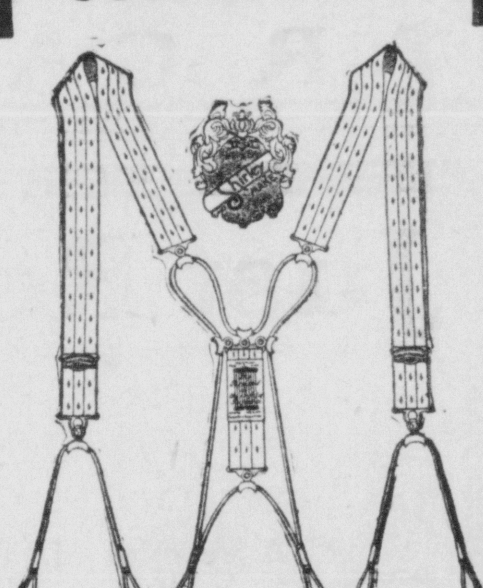

Made with 1, 2 and 3 burners, with long, turquoise blue enameled chimneys. Handsomely finished throughout. The 2- and 3-burner stoves can be had with or without a cabinet top, which is fitted with drop shelves, towel racks, etc.

placed a slight distance apart, with the result that the power needed is reduced 50 per cent and the heating effect is nearly eliminated by the flow of air between the stones. A system of sieves is arranged in such a way that particles of the grain which have not been reduced sufficiently small to pass through are automatically carried back to the top of the mill and fed a second time to the stones. It is said that with this mill not only is the expense of running greatly reduced, but the output is increased.

WHERE AMERICA'S MARRIAGE MART

For the Money Invested
the Poorest Return
Is a Title

HAT class of women spends the most money and gets the least for it? The answer is easy: It is a class composed of the match-making mothers of America. If the marriages of American girls to foreigners increase in the next ten years in the same ratio as they have in the last the little daughters of the rich will be taking more money out of this country than possibly can be taken out of the soil. Notwithstanding all the sentimental talk of marriages for love only, of which the American father speaks with so much pride when talking about his children, it almost would seem as if ambition plays a greater role in the plan of life which the American mother maps out for her daughters. One hardly can blame the American daughter for allowing her foolish mother to talk her into marrying an empty title; naturally the daughter believes all the wonderful things which her mother tells her of the splendors of the European courts.

A Billion Is Gone.

The latest estimate of the money carried from the United States since Prince Jerome Bonaparte married Betty Patterson may easily be placed at $1,000,000,000. In 1907 Henry Clews said: "I believe $900,000,000 of wealth has been taken out of this country by the marriages of American girls with foreigners. Undoubtedly the withdrawal of this enormous sum has an

the present widow of O. H. P. Belmont, then Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, decided she wanted a duke in the family she immediately picked out the present Duke of Marlborough and then and there presented her only daughter, Consuelo Vanderbilt, and $15,000,000 to him at the marriage altar.

Count Boni de Castellane asked for $5,000,000 when he proposed to marry Anna Gould, and after marriage he spent millions more in constructing, decorating and furnishing a wonderful palace on the Avenue Makaloff, in Paris. So fast and furiously did this little Frenchman squander his easily got American money that mere spending became monotonous, and he varied his occupation by abusing his wife. Finally the countess, although her income was $900,000 a year, found herself facing actual necessity. Boni was mortgaging his wife's income before she received it. Even this evidently did not deter the daughter of Jay Gould from marrying another of the titled aristocracy of France. After divorcing De Castellane, as is well known, she married Prince Helle de Sagan, who has recently become Duke Helle of Talleyrand, and her share of the Gould millions still is being spent out of the United States.

Singer's Money Went Too.

All the vast wealth made by Isaac Singer, the inventor of the Singer sewing machine, went abroad. The two daughters brought $2,000,000 apiece into the Almanach de Gotha. These two young women are of the few who have been happily married to foreigners. The oldest married the Ward McAllister of the continent, Duc Decages. The younger daughter married Prince Polignac, who in time left her a happy widow with all the noble family of her late husband devoted to her and her dollars. Even the widow of Isaac Singer took the fortune left her by her husband to the most popular market appreciable effect on the money market." Since that time some of America's greatest heiresses have taken across the seas easily $100,000,000 more.

In Miss Patterson's case it was not the fault of an ambitious mother. Elizabeth Patterson dreamed that because Napoleon Bonaparte had raised himself to the throne he would countenance the marriage of his brother with the daughter of the people of an alien land. She brought with her only $100,000. What a pitiful sum it seems now in comparison with the vast amounts since paid for more dubious titles attached to the names perhaps of even greater scoundrels than the afterward king of Westphalia!

And Those Unknown.

In addition to the big fortunes which well known American families have paid to marry into the noble families of Europe at least 300 comparatively unknown young American girls with dots of from $50,000 to $750,000 have married men with more or less obscure titles. The aggregate of the dollars which these mistaken young women paid for the empty honors was more than $800,000,000. This immense sum is not all in the shape of dowries, for in most cases the actual money given for the title has been only a drop in the bucket to what has been spent subsequently by them.

It is estimated that the dowager Duchess of Marlborough, for example, expended $1,000,000 in restoring Blenheim castle. The dowager duchess was Mrs. Lily Hamersley, and she took all told 7,000,000 good American dollars with her when she married the profligate father of the present profligate duke. After his death she married Sir William Beresford, who perhaps made up to her for the marital unhappiness caused by the duke, from whom she was divorced.

Fifteen Million For a Duke.

Notwithstanding the money spent by one American girl on Blenheim castle and her notorious unhappiness, when

YOUNG WOMAN HAS FASTED FOR MONTHS.

She Believes That an Angel Is Providing Her With Food.

One of the most remarkable facts known to medical science is recorded in the New Jersey State hospital at Morris Plains concerning Annie Geshella, a thirty-year-old Austrian girl, who has taken practically no nourishment since Feb. 7. The girl said that every morning at 4 o'clock an angel visited her bedside and brought celestial food. Nothing could prevail upon the young woman to eat, but in spite of her long fast she seemed well otherwise. Specialists who have examined the girl believe that she is a religious fanatic, but the most peculiar part of the whole performance is that the young woman has retained her vitality and even walks around the hospital.

Annie Geshella worked in a mill, and the first time that she became known to the hospital authorities was about four years ago, when she went to the general hospital for some treatment. At that time it was plain, according to the physicians, that the young woman was mentally deranged, for she announced one day that she was going to die on Easter Sunday. The girl prayed repeatedly and said that she wanted to leave this earth.

On Feb. 7 half an orange and some other light nourishment were given to her. During the following week she drank two glasses of milk, but from then on she protested, saying that an angel brought her a small glass of wine and a piece of bread early each morning.

Although there was practically no possibility that the girl was receiving food from the outside, the strangeness of the situation caused the superintendent to have the girl's room watched at night. Of course no stock was taken in the assertion about heavenly food, but on account of no loss of vitality it was thought best that some one be on hand at 4 o'clock. According to the hospital authorities, nothing developed during the vigil, but the girl kept on refusing to eat.

While the girl is slight and not particularly healthy looking, the physicians say that she worked hard before being taken to the hospital, and, in addition, the nature of the illness which she said caused a pain in her side has not been determined. But the fact that the girl is somewhat below the average health, it was pointed out, made her long fast all the more astounding.

BACON A MURDERER?

Dr. Owen Seeking Shakespeare's Head In Box Under River Wye.

Dr. Orville W. Owen, who is digging diligently in the mud of the river Wye, in England, for manuscripts which he believes were hidden there by Francis Bacon, is after bigger game than has been supposed.

The American declares that the cipher, which is guiding his operations, reveals that Bacon killed Shakespeare and buried the poet's head in the box which is now being reclaimed from the river bottom. The top of what the American thinks is the hidden cache was reached by the sounding rods, but there is a considerable layer of clay to be removed before the logs or planking forming the cover can be removed.

Despite the contention of the archaeologists that Dr. Owen is only excavating a structure used as a foundation for a Roman bridge, the investigator insists that everything tallies exactly with the cipher forecast and maintains that Bacon recognized the adaptability of the disused bridge structure as a place for the burial of his manuscript.

Dr. Owen is working on the property of the Duke of Beaufort. He was directed to this particular spot, he says, by the cryptograph which Bacon left in order to establish after his death that he was the author of the Shakespearean plays and various works credited to others.

BLAMES THE TONSILS.

Physician Finds Cure For Rheumatism In Their Removal.

Dr. H. E. Peterman, head physician of the Baltimore Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat hospital, delivered an address before the medical and surgical faculty, in which he discarded the theory that rheumatism is due to uric acid in the blood.

The responsibility for rheumatism Dr. Peterman places on the tonsils, and the removal of them, which he declares to be useless after a person has attained the age of six years, he says, will obviate all rheumatic trouble. After the age of six years, Dr. Peterman asserts, the tonsils in some persons gradually dry up by the time the age of twenty-one years is attained; in others they become enlarged and then diseased. The rheumatic germ, he says, has never been found.

Dr. Peterman says exposure and uric acid may be contributing causes, but if the tonsils be removed before the disease has progressed too far and the tissues have been destroyed the germ will have been eradicated. Dr. Peterman reported success in six cases he had so treated.

CASE LIKE THE SIAMESE TWINS

Mystery of Indian Boy's Disappearance Explained.

HAD BEEN MISSING TEN YEARS

Body Found In a Cave In Oklahoma
Has Two Heads, Four Arms and Four Feet—Boy Came Across It While Hunting Rabbits.

The mummified body of a child was recently found in a cave near Okmul-gee, Okla., by Emmons Lowe, a farmer boy. The body has two heads, four arms, four legs and four feet, and is that of a person nearly five feet tall.
The arms are all of the same length and reach far below the knees.

The Lowe boy found the mummy while hunting rabbits. He followed his dog on the trail of a rabbit into the cave and while groping around came upon the body. The flesh on the bones has dried, and apparently there has been no decay.

Old residents in the vicinity of the cave say the body is that of an Indian boy who has been missing several years. It was known to them that there was such a boy among the Indians. He was kept out of sight as much as possible by the other members of the tribe to which he belonged, but had been seen by a number of white persons.

John Pepper of Okmulgee said he had seen the two headed Indian boy a number of times. The monstrosity was in reality two persons with one body, he said. The mummy is that of two persons, apparently, even the shoulders of each being separate and perfect, the body very wide and the lower limbs fully developed. The bodies appear to be joined together below the shoulders and from there down to the hips. Physicians have examined the body and say there were really two persons or two bodies and that they were grown together and could not have been separated even by a surgical operation.

Pepper remembers that the Indian boy or boys walked and talked when alive. The Indians were reticent about them, or him, and little was known of him outside of the tribe to which he belonged. It is supposed that the "twins," as they were called by the white people who had seen them, wandered away and died in the cave. Pepper says they have been missing nearly ten years, or at least it has been that long since he saw them alive.

EVE A SUFFRAGETTE.

Dominated Adam and Caused Him to Eat the Apple, Says Professor.
The original suffragette, according to Dr. Paul Haupt, professor of Semitic languages in Johns Hopkins university, was Eve, who dominated Adam and caused him to eat of the forbidden fruit.

"Some people think that when the Lord created Eve he took not only a rib from Adam, but also the backbone," says Dr. Haupt.

Dr. Haupt apparently subscribes to this view. His theory is set forth in a paper which he read before the American Philosophical society in Philadelphia. For his authority Dr.
Haupt quotes the Bible, in Genesis xvii, 7, he finds the quotation:

"And unto thee shall be his desire, and thou shalt rule over him." The context seems to have no relation to this quotation, and Dr. Haupt intimates that it was interpolated probably by a woman who knew her rights, for in the preceding chapter Dr. Haupt finds that the Lord pronounced a curse
on Eve, saying:

"I will greatly multiply thy sorrow and thy sighing. In pain thou shalt bear children. Nevertheless thy desire shall be to thy husband, and he shall rule over thee."

Dr. Haupt says: "I have discovered that the story of the fall of man and the story of Cain and Abel were written in parallel columns. In the space between commentaries were made.
Some woman or some man under the influence of woman wrote this suffrage gloss in the space between the columns. Later it crept into the column containing the story of Cain and Abel, and there it is found today."

FOR A NATIONAL SONG.

School Children Will Contribute to a Prize Fund.

The Chicago school board has undertaken a plan which its members hope will provide the country with a new and distinctive national song. Dr. J.
B. McFetrich, president of the board of education, and Mrs. Ella Plagg Young, superintendent of schools, have arranged for each one of the 300,000 school children in Chicago to contribute a cent toward a prize for the successful competitor in a contest to supply a national song.

The only restriction to be made by the board is that the song shall not be a war song.

RECOVERED HER VOICE.

Girl, Dumb Two Years, Said "Goodby"
to Her Dying Sister.

Mary H. Hecht of St. Louis, fifteen years old, who has been dumb for two years, strangely recovered her power of speech at the bedside of her dying sister.

Mary was passionately devoted to her four-year-old sister, who had been ill of scarlet fever, and she had been in almost constant attendance at her bedside for three weeks.

Suddenly she tried to sit up in bed,
saying, "Goodby, Mary."

To the surprise of all Mary replied in full tones, "Goodby, sister."

The little girl died a few minutes later. Since then Mary's voice has been as strong as it ever was. Physicians attributed it to shock at her sister's death.

Alcohol In Peat.

In European experiments a ton of dried peat has been made to yield forty-three gallons of alcohol when treated with sulphuric acid and a yeast. As a commercial alcohol it costs about one-fourth that produced from potatoes. Tar is another product of peat.
